

TO H&R BLOCK, WE ARE SECOND-CLASS CITIZENS.

What would you think if H&R Block made a promotional offer to members of the NAACP, but upon receiving complaints from the KKK cancelled it with the excuse that they were reluctant to get “in the middle of a social issue?”

That’s exactly what H&R Block did to members of the NRA last year—just because the NRA represents people who have chosen to exercise a different constitutionally-protected human right.

Under an “affinity” program offered to dozens of membership organizations each year, H&R Block promised to make a modest donation to NRA’s member services organization for any new customer requesting it.

Their announcement drew the ire of a small but noisy group of gun-banning bullies, who threatened H&R Block with a day of picketing unless they recanted their offer.

Gutlessly, H&R Block caved, unilaterally canceling their agreement with the excuse that they didn’t want to get “in the middle of a social issue.”

By their actions, they branded American gun owners as social lepers.
Social bigotry is just as ugly as racial bigotry.

NRA members are law-abiding hunters, law officers, servicemen, competitors, and sportsmen. NRA members are your neighbors (45% of homes in America have at least one firearm). Maybe you are an NRA member yourself.

We don’t deserve to be treated like pariahs because of anti-choice bullies.

We will be picketing outside this H&R Block office until H&R Block offers American gun owners a public apology for their bigotry and reinstitutes the broken agreement.

UNTIL THEN, WE ASK YOU NOT TO GIVE YOUR TAX BUSINESS TO H&R BLOCK.

Instead, may we suggest you patronize the convenient competitor(s) listed below.

Keep in mind: If you are audited, H&R Block promises to be there for you, to defend their work to the IRS. How far can you trust the word of a company that has shown how little its promises mean when the pressure is on?

Thank you. Tell your family and friends.
